When our customers ask,
“Can you help us get LEED certified?”
We say, YES.

LEED: Leadership Energy Environmental Design was developed by the United States Green Building Council, or USGBC.

LEED is a guideline to help building owners and design teams determine and achieve green project goals. It is based on a point system that takes into account all aspects of a building’s impact on the environment. This certification refers to a green building and not individual products.

Stonhard, the leader in seamless polymer floors, walls and linings works with customers by offering innovative products to help achieve LEED certification points in “Materials and Resources” as well as “Indoor Environmental Quality” categories.

Stonhard works with you to achieve certification.

The following are LEED points where Stonhard can help your project become LEED Certified.

Material and Resources

- MR Credit 1 Building Reuse
  - ♦ Stonhard flooring systems can be used to rehabilitate an existing building and lessen the need for new facilities.
- MR Credit 2 Construction Waste Management
  - ♦ Reduce waste up to 85% through Stonhard's unique packaging by minimizing metal can waste and recyclable packaging.
- MR Credit 5 Regional Materials
  - ♦ Stonhard meets the requirements of a regional supplier with manufacturing facilities within 500 miles from most of our customers.
  - ♦ All Stonhard products are assembled on site and qualify as regionally manufactured materials.

Indoor Environmental Quality

- EQ Credit 4.2 Low Emitting Materials
  - ♦ Many Stonhard products meet and exceed VOC requirements for floor coatings.

So, yes we can and will help our customers get LEED certified.
